

Satoko Ekberg
CEO, One Planet Café Ltd.

Born in Japan. Works with Sustainability and the Global Goals in Japan, Sweden, Zambia. Satoko has 15+ years of experience in the Sustainable Development and CSR-field (Corporate Social Responsibility) as well as BOP business and Human Resources. As director and consultant for one of Japan's leading environmental consulting firms E-Square Inc., she has worked with companies including Panasonic, Nissan, Fujitsu, Hitachi, Kao, and Ajinomoto.

Satoko was project leader for environmental human resource development at Japan's Environmental Ministry - developing capacity building programs and e-learning courses for Sustainability.

She co-created an international Master Course for Sustainable Development at the top University Tohoku University where she also was a guest lecturer for 10 years.

Based on that experience, Satoko established One Planet Café Ltd. - a company specializing in realizing sustainability through global partnerships in Sweden, Japan and Zambia. One Planet organizes study tours to good examples connected to the Global Goals (SDGs) in Sweden and Zambia, under the slogan "Sustainability in Reality".

In 2020 - with the Japanese companies Kao and Dentsu - she produced an online SDGs course for children.

In collaboration with The New Division (Sweden) she also produced the Japanese version of "Target Finder" - a tool for the 169 targets towards the Global Goals.

Satoko is one of the initiative takers and leaders for the Award-winning and Fair Trade Verified paper "Banana Paper". A partnership with banana farmers from extreme poverty (Zambia) and traditional paper factories (Japan, UK). Banana paper is a Fair Trade-verified paper and the first stage of the paper is developed at a Green Factory in Zambia, partly financed by Crowd Funding and the Japanese Embassy. Working towards integrating all 17 Global Goals, the place uses no chemicals, is built with eco-cycled materials, bioclimatic know-how, and is run by renewable energy including solar. Banana paper clients include LUSH, Toyota, United Nations.

Satoko has co-authored two environmental books in Japan.
